The violet and light violet colors, on September 15 (left), indicate low ozone values over the entire Antarctic continent. By October 5 (right), the lightness of color indicates the ozone hole was about half the area of the continent and the total ozone value was the lowest ever observed. (Photo : USIS, New Delhi)

5 THOUGHTS

from the inside pages

Relief from paralysis is reported by listening to pieces of Dvijaavanti Raga. Those who are prone to depression are often recommended with a dose of lilt in Bilahari to overcome their melancholy.

The objective in communication is to gain respect and belief from your listeners and for them to gain insight into the details of the message.

The antidote for pride is humility because pride is nothing but the absence of humility. This can be inculcated by pure wisdom.

We have ambition, we desire wealth, wish for fame or long for power and glory. But wishes alone are not enough.

We must follow the desire to deserve it.

The way you walk and stand can give an impression to another person that you have nothing to hide. So keep yourself relaxed, your back erect, head straight up, hands at the sides, and smile as you walk.
